

Austrian Leopold Engleitner, 107, world's oldest living victim of concentration camps | China National News

China National News

NATIONAL news service FOR PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF CHINA

China National News <http://www.chinanationalnews.com>

Edition 5005/10

China National News
Technology News

Global News
Internet News

Business News
Lifestyle News

Entertainment News
Travel News

Science News
Offbeat News

Austrian Leopold Engleitner, 107, world's oldest living victim of concentration camps

whatsonsanya Thursday 15th November, 2012

A 107-year-old Christian who is the oldest living victim of the concentration camps who was imprisoned because of his beliefs is to fly to New York for the premier of a film about his life. Leopold Engleitner, 107, from St. Wolfgang in Upper Austria, will be in the US to attend the Los Angeles premier of the documentary called "Ladder in the Lions' Den". The film charts Engleitner's experiences as a conscientious objector and a Jehovah's Wi...